Dear Paul, with every report of your unusual weather - and there have been many reports, including on national TV - we have thought of you and been glad that you are up high until we think of those slides you also have out there. So we are glad assume from your note that you are untouched and OK. We thanks you very much for check, for which there is always more need. The court costs ~~xxx~~ have been great for us and have seriously depleted our scanty security. Things are not going well in the litigation as the courts (to now) reflect the changed, cold-war temper, but we continue to do what we can. Thanks for the LA Times story. That reporter is a nice fellow who asked for help on another story and I gave thim that. They put it on their syndicate wire but believe it or not I've heard from only one other person, who lives in Colorado. ... In taking depositions, which cost about $2,000 in court reporters alone, we learned that the FBI made abstracts or synopses of records. So we pressed for them in the King case and won. The first batch is now overdue. And ho FBI promptly abandoned the practise!. ... We are OK and to now have managed to get almost all our heat from wood, 100% when I've been home. This first season will probably return the entire investment in oil savings.

Again thanks and all our best, HW 3/4/80
